Full Power Energy Blast Volley is one's Blast Ultimate Attack used by most characters. The properties user shoots out several Ki bullets in a cone in front of themselves over a rather large amount of time. The bullets will track if it's used out of a knockback, dealing a total of 20% losses across all 29 hits. USS Tips This is a decent starting skill that can be used with a lot of knockbacks for some damage. Due to long-lasting and projectile tracking, it can be difficult to escape with some evasive skills. A useful tip is for a knockback attack, so the use of this ultimate.it will not spread, instead will fire on the enemy for a while. I just uploaded a video to show you how to use the full power energy blast volley as so many people don't use this as they think it's bad when they don't really know how to use it properly. This is a very effective and accurate step when used correctly! Techniques, Aggressive Techniques, Energy Barrage Techniques Shared Directory: Technology → Aggressive Techniques → Sustainable Energy Bullet Full Power Blast volley (フ / パワ連続エネギ弾, Furu pawa renjoku enrugi-dan, lit. Continuous full power energy bullets) is a variation of the full power energy barrage wave. It was named in the Budoki Tenkachi series. Overview The user fires a flurry of explosions of large, bright that are more powerful than the average energy volley. It is useful for causing quick, effective, as well as massive accumulation of damage to enemies. The difference with the full power energy barrage wave is that users don't take their hands while firing it. The waves themselves just chase the opponent. The use and combined full power energy explosion volley of Power Angelela and Medamacha is used for the first time in dragon ball z: Lord slug by Angelela and Medamacha against Piccolo while he is protecting Gohan. Android 14 and Android 15 use a variation of the full power energy blast volley called energy squib. Dabra uses the attack during the fight against Majin Bulu. In the Dragon Ball GT, Super Saiyan Goku uses technology during his battle against meta-riald. After Gogen punches him during his fight, Baby uses full-strength energy blast volley while he's buried down the broken road. As baby Vegeta, he uses the full-power energy blast volley against Uub, as well as later in an attempt to defeat Super Saiyan 4 Goku. While firing, the baby yells die! With each explosion in a fast motion. Unfortunately for the child, his attack has no effect on Goku. Video game appearances Gohan used a full power energy blast volley at Budoki Tenkachi 3 GT Goku in the Budoki Tenkachi series, Along with Gohan, Gohan, Gotten, Raditz, Guldo, Android 18, Android 17, Dabra set it on fire with both hands, while baby Vegeta uses only one hand like how the Turils fire its full power energy barrage wave. Dabra's attack is called Hate Ray Cannon in the Budoki series and he also used this Renjoku Energy Dan technique in the Budoden series, the Budoki Tenkachi series and the fiery blast chain. Gohn's version is called Gekiretsu Hadan in Dragon Ball Z: Supersonic Warriors 2 and he fires it with one hand like baby. Also in Supersonic Warriors 2, when Captain Ginyu summons him, Guldo uses a version to guide the psycho triangle which he rivals using his telekinesis. Goku fires his full-power energy blast volley into zenvers in Dragon Ball Zoverz, a common ultimate skill used by many fighters, including future warrior, who have it as their default ultimate skill. Interestingly, all five members of the Gino Force have this technique as a final skill in the second skill of each member (Rekum, Barter, Jes, Guldo and Gino). In Dragon Ball Zenvers 2, it returns as a common ultimate skill used by many fighters that makes it one of the most used ultimate skills with full power energy wave. Like Xenoverse, it's the future warrior The ultimate skill.
